The injunction case against the southern Wholesale Grocers' Association was instituted by the United States government in Birmingham, June, 1910, for the purpose of restraining the association from certain practices alleged to be in violation of the Sherman anti-trust law.

Following the handing down of the getcre by Judges Pardee and Shelby, of the Federal Court of Appeals, United States District Attorney O. D. Street, of the Northern Alabama District, issued a statement purporting to show the effect of the decision.

First declaring that the purpose of the government's bill was to restrain the association from alleged violations of the Sherman antitrust law, and that the United States Circuit Court, by consent of all parties to-day, prohibited the association, its officers and embers from continuing the "practice." which the bill seeks to enjoin Mrs. Street stated.

FUNERAL NOTICE

A TRIBUTE—MISS JANE BEAD.

This lovely Christian woman departed this life at her residence, 311 Past Grace Street, on the morning of the 16th list, after protracted illness. She was the daughter of the late Nicholas Read, of Richmond, and is the tast surviving member of her immediate family. Her later years were spent in Richmond, where she leaves many relatives who knew and loved her.

Having become a member of the Presbyterian Church early in life, her days were spent in the service of her Henvenly Father and in doing good to her fellowmen.

Her funeral will take place To-DAY at 12 o'clock M., from the Second Presbyterian Church, and will be conducted by her pastor, Rev.

Russell Cecil.
